

WORK GOING ON ABOUT OUR CITY.

Such Activity in Building Never Before Seen Here.

ELLINGTON & ROYSTER
ENLARGE

And Fit Themselves up for Filling
Contracts in Better Time—Bed
Spring Factory.

Raleigh still builds.
And every part of the city is being improved by the trowel and hammer.

Contractors tell the CHRONICLE that they are over-crowded with work and that it is hard for them to get material sufficient for building.

The Caraleigh Mills are going up, the electric street car power-house foundation is finished and the main building and engine-house are begun, the new depot is now assuming a shapely appearance, the Baptist Tabernacle Church looks like a few weeks will leave it a model of neatness and beauty. People want to build and cannot get the material. Other people are trotting over the streets trying to rent cottages. Three, five and seven room cottages are in demand, and there is not a vacant one in the city.

Messrs. Ellington & Royster, being over-crowded with contracts and not being able to get material to suit their trade, enlarged the past week and are, like the CHRONICLE, still improving. A new Corliss engine, 150 horse power has been added and there is no such other engine like it around. There are two boilers 165 horse power each. The engine was constructed by Frick, Waynesboro, Pa. They have also added new sash and blind machinery. The drying houses have been enlarged and more steam provided. Their main kiln now measures 25x85 feet.

Besides all this they have built a large saw mill house and equipped it with a Lane Mill, No. 2. Great flat cars filled with logs come in each day from off the Raleigh and Gaston line and the lumber is sawed to suit their contracts.

The firm informs the CHRONICLE that they are doing much more work than ever before in their history and that the town is on a building boom. A new Glencoe machine, which is something costly, will be added this week to their factory.

We noticed near there a Bad Spring Factory, something our people did not know Raleigh possessed, and it is doing a fine business, having had so many orders as to consume all its material. It is operated by Messrs. Holton, Moring & Co., and the springs are gaining such a well-earned reputation that this may become, in the near future, one of the great industries of our capital city.

For all this activity let us give thanks, push again and accomplish more.
